PRELIMINARY PEACE CONFERENCE OPENS.

FEATURES OF THE FIRST SITTING.

The Press Demand for Publicity.

Paris, January 18.

Large crowds, including journalists, cinema operators and photographers, assembled early before the Foreign Ministry to see the arrival of delegates at the opening of the great Peace Conference. M. Jules Cambon was the first arrival and the rest followed in twos and threes. After entering the Foreign Ministry they passed through the Salon du Congrès and the Salon des Ambassadeurs, reaching the Salle de l'Horloge, where they took their appointed places, which were marked by little white gilt-edged cards. President Wilson on arrival was saluted with drums and fifes. He smilingly posed for the camera-men. The Indian and Hedjaz delegates, with their brilliant turbans, lent picturesqueness to the scene. President Poincaré received the same ceremonial as President Wilson. The delegates chatted in groups in the Salle de l'Horloge, President Wilson lengthily conversing with M. Clemenceau. The Allied journalists who were admitted to the Conference were seated in a gallery having communication with the Salle de l'Horloge.

President Poincaré entered at 3.5 p.m., walked quickly to the Presidential chair and in clear tones delivered the opening address, all standing meanwhile. Mr. Lloyd George entered while the speech was proceeding. President Wilson was half-turned to President Poincaré and gave occasional nods of approval. After President Poincaré concluded, the interpreter (Lieutenant Mantoux) read the Presidential speech in English.

Seventy-two delegates were now seated round a horse-shoe table. President Poincaré was at the head with President Wilson and the American delegates on his right and Mr. Lloyd George and the British delegates on his left. The Secretaries sat behind President Poincaré, while at the other end of the room shorthand writers were accommodated. The Assistant Secretaries sat at tables at the sides of the room.

The apartment is a gorgeous one, overlooking the quai and river. It is lofty, with walls literally hidden under gilt rococo ornamentation and hung with scarlet curtains. Several huge crystal chandeliers depended from the ceiling of the room, which takes its name from the magnificent clock behind the President's chair. It really forms a half vast square apartment divided by a row of immense pillars. The other half was thronged with journalists.

Regarding the representation of India at the Conference, the Hon. E. S. Montagu has decided, with the approval of the Premier, in view of the historic importance of the opening meeting, to depute the Maharajah of Bikanir and Sir C. P. Sinha to be the representatives of India on this occasion.

ELECTING THE PRESIDENT.

London, January 19.

Following President Poincaré, President Wilson moved that M. Clemenceau be permanent President. He said this meeting must be regarded as the supreme crowning of diplomatic history. Never before had so many nations been represented with a view to settling the problems of the world in so many degrees. They all admired M. Clemenceau's commonsense and had acquired real affection for him. "We all desire the same thing," M. Clemenceau here nodded approval.

Mr. Lloyd George supported the proposal, referring to M. Clemenceau as "the greatest young man of France." He and M. Clemenceau had often disagreed, arguing with each other vigorously like any two Celts. Referring to the greatness of the hour, Mr. Lloyd George said the world was thirsting for peace. M. Clemenceau would not permit time to be wasted, for he knew it was the greatest eloquence that got things done.

President Wilson and Mr. Lloyd George both spoke in English. Baron Sonnino, speaking in French, also paid a tribute to M. Clemenceau, who was unanimously elected.

MATTERS TO BE DISCUSSED.

Paris, January 19.

After the nomination of M. Clemenceau as President, the Peace Conference adopted a proposal allotting one Vice President to each of the five Great Powers, after which M. Clemenceau said the testimonies of friendship from President Wilson and Mr. Lloyd George touched him deeply. Their ambition was a great one. They wished to avoid a repetition of the world catastrophe. All must remain united if the League of Nations was to be practicable.

As regards the Orders of the Day, M. Clemenceau said he had consulted two eminent jurists on the penal responsibility of the ex-Kaiser and their reports would be submitted to all the delegates. As regards responsibility for the enemy's crimes in war-time and legislation for International Labour, all the Powers were invited to submit memoranda thereupon. The question of the League of Nations would head the agenda for the next sitting. The Conference then adjourned.

THE VOTING QUESTION.

London, January 18.

Reuter's correspondent at Paris, discussing the voting representation at the Conference, and particularly referring to the protest that the largest and most important Powers have only equal voting rights with the smallest and most inconsiderable, points out that it is necessary to remember that the Conference's problems will not be settled by vote. The Conference is rather a Parliament of Cabinets than "A Parliament of Man" and it will follow the Cabinet procedure whereby policy will not be settled by the counting of heads. The chiefs will give the lead and others follow. The Peace Conference is and must be guided and controlled by the Great Powers who are responsible before world history for the decisions.

The Great Powers are custodians of vast existing interests and all have vital principles. They are unwilling to entrust the settlement by vote. It is inconceivable, for example, that Great Britain, because she is represented at the Conference, should be compelled to abandon her historic attitude on the question of the freedom of the seas because of a hostile majority vote, and similarly France regarding Alsace-Lorraine and Italy regarding the Trentino.

The underlying principle, therefore, is agreement among the five Great Powers. Without it, no settlement is possible. While the delegates of all the Great Powers will attend all the sittings, the delegates of the smaller Powers, the Dominions and India will attend only when invited. Hence when the Freedom of the Seas, affecting all, is discussed, it is assumed that all nations, including Overseas Britain, will be present. It is clear that the panel system admits of perpetual representation of the Dominions and there is nothing to prevent the British delegation comprising Sir Robert Borden, Mr. Hughes, General Botha and General Smuts if thought desirable. Anyhow, it is extremely probable that when the Dominions and India are not represented as such, one or more direct delegates of the Imperial Government will drop out and be replaced by Dominions or Indian statesmen, so that the Overseas Empire may always be in a position to know what is transpiring and make its voice heard.

PRELIMINARY PEACE CONFERENCE OPENS.

PRESS DEMANDS.

Paris, January 17.

A meeting of the delegates of the Allied and American Press passed a resolution stating:—"Firstly it is essential to ensure full publicity of the Peace Conference; secondly, that the communiques should be as complete as possible; thirdly, that besides the communiques full summaries of each day's proceedings should be issued not necessarily for textual publication, but for the guidance of correspondents who will maintain full freedom of comment; fourthly, we are opposed to any interference of free intercourse between the peace delegates and responsible journalists; fifthly, the committee recommends equality of treatment for the Allied Press by abolition of the censorship in all Allied countries; sixthly, apart from the general question of the admission of the Press to the Conference, the Committee is of opinion that journalists representing Allied countries should be permitted to attend the formal opening session of the Conference."

At the Press Conference there was substantial agreement between the British, Italian and American Press delegates to recommend actual representation of the Press at the Conferences. The French, however, dissented. After the French delegates withdrew, the following resolutions were adopted by the British, Italian and American Press delegates:—"Firstly, that there should direct representation of the Press at the sittings of the Conferences; secondly, the Press of each of the Great Powers should be represented by not fewer than five delegates and the smaller Powers which have taken an active part in the war should be proportionally represented."

PRESS TO BE ADMITTED CONDITIONALLY.

London, January 18.

A communique dated the 17th inst. from Paris states:—"The Preliminary Peace Conference sat for four and a half hours and decided to give Belgium and Serbia three delegates each at the Conference, and the King of Hedjaz two. This finally established the number of each Power's delegates. The agenda for the opening sitting of the Conference on the afternoon of the 18th inst. was arranged and the meeting finally examined the question of publicity of the Conference discussions. It unanimously registered that it is anxious that the public through the Press should have the fullest information compatible with the safeguarding of the supreme interest of all, which is that a just and honourable settlement be reached with a minimum of delay."

It is however obvious that publicity regarding the preliminary conversations now proceeding must be subject to limitations necessarily imposed by the difficult and delicate nature of their object. The communique proceeds with a justification of its decision and points out that these conversations are far more analogous to meetings of the Cabinet, which are always and necessarily private, rather than those of the Legislature. The essence of the democratic method is that Governments have privately deliberated and that the conclusions be subject to consideration of a popular Chamber and in other public ways. The danger is pointed out of raising national and international controversy by premature publicity; also the fact is impressed that the delegates' duties would become infinitely more difficult. The communique contends that premature publicity will obstruct a speedy settlement and may create wrong conclusions about reciprocal concessions where mutual agreement may not have fully developed.

The communique's concluding paragraph says:—"This reasoning applies with conclusive force to the present conversations between representatives of the Great Powers. Regarding the full Conference, the following rule is adopted, namely, Press representatives shall be admitted to meetings of the full Conference but upon necessary occasions the Conference deliberations may be held in camera."

PRESIDENT POINCARÉ'S SPEECH.

London, January 18.

A communique dated the 18th inst. from Paris says President Poincaré welcomed the delegates to Paris. He saw in the delegates' decision to hold the Conference there, the homage of all nations represented towards a country which more than any other had endured the sufferings of war. After recounting the outrages which led up to the war, he retraced the successive entry of the Allies into the struggle, specially tributing Britain and the Dominions, and saying "Faithfully supported by her Dominions and Colonies, Great Britain decided she could not remain aloof from a struggle wherein the fate of every country was involved. She and her Dominions and Colonies made prodigious efforts to prevent the war ending in the triumph of the spirit of conquest and the destruction of right."

President Poincaré, continuing, said the intervention of America was something greater than a great political and military event—it was a supreme judgment passed at the bar of history by the lofty conscience of a free people and their chief magistrate.

President Poincaré concluded:—"An immortal glory will attach to the names of the nations and men who co-operated in this grand work in faith and brotherhood, and who have taken pains to eliminate from future peace the cause of disturbance and instability. Forty-eight years ago to-day, the German Empire was proclaimed in a chateau at Versailles. It was consummated by the theft of two French Provinces. It was thus vitiated from its origin and, by the fault of its founders, born in injustice. It has ended in opprobrium. You are assembled to repair the evil done and to prevent a recurrence. You hold in your hands the world's future."

Referring to the regulations of the Conference, the communique states that belligerent Powers with general interests, namely the United States, the British Empire, France, Italy and Japan, shall participate in all sittings and Commissions. Belligerent Powers with particular interests, namely Belgium, Brazil, the British Dominions and India, China, Cuba, Greece, Guatemala, Hayti, Hedjaz, Honduras, Liberia, Nicaragua, Panama, Poland, Portugal, Roumania, Siberia, Siam, the Czechoslovak Republic and Powers in a state of diplomatic rupture with the enemy, namely Bolivia, Ecuador, Peru and Uruguay, shall participate at sittings at which questions concerning them are discussed. Neutral Powers and States in process of formation may be heard when summoned by the Powers with general interests at sittings devoted specially to the examination of questions directly concerning them.

THE POINTS IN DISPUTE.

London, December 18.

The Morning Post's correspondent at Paris writing on the 16th says the feeding of Germany and the question of indemnity are two points where any difference of opinion among the plenipotentiaries now centres.

An agreement will probably be reached as regards the first, but the second presents greater difficulties.

The earlier differences as regards the "Freedom of the Seas" have now disappeared.

A ROYAL BEREAVEMENT.

KING GEORGE'S YOUNGEST SON DEAD.

London, January 19.

H. M. the King's youngest son, H. R. H. Prince John, died last night. [H. R. H. Prince John Charles Francis was born at York Cottage on July 12, 1905.]

HOW ROSA LUXEMBURG WAS KILLED.

BODY REMOVED BY MOB IN DARKNESS.

London, January 18.

The official story of the death of Herr Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg only arrived from Amsterdam to-day. It states that the crowd broke up the escort and pounced upon Rosa Luxemburg, who was placed in a car unconscious. The mob subsequently stopped the car and a man shot her. The others seized her body and disappeared with it in the darkness.

AN ENQUIRY INSTITUTED.

Amsterdam, January 19.

An investigation has begun to discover whether the officers commanding Herr Liebknecht's and Rosa Luxemburg's escorts had fulfilled their duty. The officer commanding Rosa Luxemburg's escort has been temporarily suspended because he did not sufficiently protect her against the public.

THE GOVERNMENT EMBARRASSED.

London, January 18.

Correspondents state that Berlin has been thrown into a state of nervous tension by the killing of Herr Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg, similar to the tension on the eve of the Bolshevik rising. The people generally fear that the Spartacist reprisals and acts will undoubtedly embarrass the Government.

THE NEW ARMISTICE TERMS.

REPATRIATION OF RUSSIAN PRISONERS AND HANDING OVER OF VESSELS.

Paris, January 16.

The text of the new Armistice terms confirms an earlier message from Paris, and also the conditions cabled from Berlin last night. Furthermore, it stipulates the establishment by the Associated Governments of a committee to control the Repatriation of Russian prisoners from Germany.

The committee will sit at Berlin. German merchant vessels are being taken over in order to assure the supply of foodstuffs to Germany and the rest of Europe. The arrangement is without prejudice to the final disposal of the vessels. The restitution of all material removed from France and Belgium is stipulated.

OTHER TERMS.

Paris, January 17.

An announcement has been issued that the renewed Armistice provides for the surrender of submarines ready to proceed to sea, the destruction of submarines that are being constructed, and also a clause placing the German merchant fleet at the disposal of the Allies.

HANDING OVER OF 58,000 AGRICULTURAL MACHINES.

Amsterdam, January 17.

A message from Berlin states that the renewed Armistice provides that Germany will deliver 58,000 agricultural machines of various kinds, by February 17th, and punishment is demanded of those guilty of illegal treatment to prisoners of war in Germany. As a guarantee, the Entente reserves the right to occupying a sector of the fortress of Strassburg, formed by the fortifications on the right of the Rhine with a strip of territory between 5 and 10 kilometers fronting the fortifications.

SURRENDER OF TURKISH COMMANDER.

Cairo, January 17.

Fakhri Pasha, commanding the Turks at Medina, has surrendered to Emir Ali, son of King Hussein, of the Arabs.

POLES TAKE OVER GOVERNMENT OF POSEN.

London, January 17.

A message from Berlin states an official report says the Polish National Council at Posen has informed the Government that it has taken over the administration of the Province of Posen, in order to maintain order.

MARTIAL LAW IN BREMEN.

Amsterdam, January 17.

A message from Bremen states that martial law has been proclaimed.

PRINCE LICHNOWSKY HEADING GERMAN PEACE DELEGATES.

Amsterdam, January 17.

The Berlin and Munich newspapers state that Prince Lichnowsky will be leader of the German Peace Delegation.

GROWTH OF BOLSHEVISM IN GERMANY.

FOCH THINKS GERMANS WILL PULL THEMSELVES TOGETHER.

Paris, January 18.

In the course of an interview, Marshal Foch expressed the opinion that the Germans had not exaggerated much, regarding the need at present prevailing in Germany, especially in Austria, where the population is certainly bordering on famine.

Marshal Foch does not share the view that Germany is incapable of further effort as she still possesses an army, although it is disorganised. On the other hand, the Allied occupation of the Rhineland constitutes the strongest imaginable strategic barrier, especially as the Allies possess all the main avenues into Germany.

Marshal Foch does not fear a serious growth of Bolshivism in Germany.

Marshal Foch believes that Germany will pull herself together and sweep aside "this wave of poison gas."

NEW ITALIAN CABINET.

SIGNOR ORLANDO STILL PREMIER.

London, January 18.

The personnel of the re-constituted Italian Cabinet indicates that Italy is not disposed to conciliation, regarding the Jugoslav claims. Signor Orlando remains Premier and Signor Bonino Foreign Minister.

TO-DAY'S CHINESE TELEGRAMS.

(With Tsz Yat Po Service.)

Peking, Jan. 18.

The Peking Press has a statement saying the Japanese European representatives have been diplomatically successful in handling the French Foreign Minister who presides at the Preliminary Conference, and have induced him and others to agree to only two seats for China. The Japanese representatives stated that China's internal trouble is not settled and that two persons, one representing the North and one the South, would not increase the troubles in China. This decision classes China among the third or fourth rate nations.

Telegrams from peace headquarters at Shanghai indicate that the Conference is likely to open on the 20th inst.

Twelve million dollars of the surplus Customs revenue will be handed over shortly.

Shanghai, Jan. 19.

Within the last three days seven cases of opium smuggling by soldiers on the railways have been discovered. The President instructs Ma Hung-Pin to punish the offenders severely.

The British and American Ministers have inquired from the Peking Government if there is any truth in the report that capital has been secured from a certain foreign Power in Fung Wong Shan (in Manchuria) for a mining enterprise.

Chang Chung-chen (Chinese Minister in Tokyo) reports that the Japanese Government and people advocate returning Tsingtao to China direct. The matter has been submitted to a diplomatic committee for consideration. He however recommends that it would be better to let the matter be decided by the European Peace Conference.

The South-west has now officially notified Peking that Southern peace delegates have been appointed.

The Cabinet has decided on the following enemy regulations:—First, all interned Germans and those named by the Allies and former employees in schools and industrial works shall be sent back to Germany; second, all Germans over sixty years old, or suffering from illness, and doctors, and teacher under contracts in hospitals and schools will be allowed to remain.

Hung Hing-ling and others who are now in Shanghai have practically arranged with Tang Shao-ye to hold the Peace Conference in the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce, and have wired the President to order accordingly.

The President wires to the South West welcoming the appointment of peace delegates. He has silently agreed to hold the Conference in Shanghai, but the opening ceremony must be held in Nanking.

According to a telegram from Paris, it was originally arranged that China should have three full-power delegates at the Peace Conference, but Britain, France, Italy and America have now decided to reduce the number to two, on the ground that China did not do much in active service.

THE CHURCHES' ORDEAL.

WAR AND THE FAITH OF MAN.

Mr. Arthur Mee writes in the Daily Chronicle as follows:—

The victorious Allies have saved the world from something worse than death, they have saved it, also, from something more appalling than they knew. They have saved mankind from the loss of its faith in God. The faith in the Creator and Sustainer of the world could hardly survive the victory of the forces of devilry in Europe.

Let it be never forgotten that the mastery of the German was to be not over empire only, but over the mind of the world. Deeper than we knew was the depth of the bottomless pit, for the mind of the conquered world was to be emptied not only of its faith in liberty, in justice, in fraternity, but of its faith in God. FRUITS OF THE GERMAN GOSPEL.

The young men are away from our cities but they were in their boyhood when there swept across these islands a German wave which was to overwhelm our faith and accomplish our destruction. It is 20 years since the floodgates of Materialism were opened in Germany, letting loose their foul waters to carry the seed of despair and doubt and disbelief wherever the children of God might be. For faith in God, belief in justice, the hope eternal in the heart of man were the mighty barrier in the German path. A world that believed in God would never bend before the brute.

The wave of German Materialism—which was to make the way easier for German Militarism by sapping dry the fountain of our being—is spent, but with the war for the Empire of Europe went on the war for the enslavement of mind. There is no room for God in the German Kaiserreich, and two foul things have come afresh across the Rhine. One is the lie that Might is Right; the other is the lie of Professor Haeckel that the war has ended the illusion of the existence of God.

It is Professor Haeckel who helped to sow the seed of the war; it is the Gospel of Materialism according to Haeckel that was supposed to have superseded the Gospel according to St. John. Well, by their fruits ye shall know them. The fruits of the German Gospel are in Belgium and Serbia and Poland. They lie strewn along the bed of the Atlantic Ocean. They will be seen in millions of babies yet to be born in Germany beyond the pale, with the shadow of the brand of Cain upon their brow.

It is not the Gospel of St. John that has gone to its destruction in this war. It is not Professor Haeckel who has triumphed in this fight against high Heaven. It is his god of steel that has been set up above all others in Berlin; but there is another God, and Germany will remember the Creator in the days of her doom.

There lies upon us all the solemn task of saving the faith of the world. We know in Whom we have believed. Above and behind and beyond mankind is God; beneath us are the Everlasting Arms. But time, on our side, is passing, and we have brought us to strange ways, and we have to ask ourselves strange questions—whether the road will really lead us all the way, whether the light beyond is really there at all or whether there has been through all these years a great illusion beckoning us?

ON THE SINKING SANDS. One power in Europe can solve the doubts and save the faith of men. It is the business of the Church to shift itself from sinking sands and set its house upon a rock. We have won our liberty, but more than all, we must keep our faith. Men everywhere are asking solemn questions. They are asking for a God Who will fit the facts. It is for the Church to face the facts or to fall to pieces. It is for the Church to open its doors that the river of knowledge may flow in.

God and His armies can stand the facts. Let the Church welcome them, and the power will not be big enough to hold the men when they come home. Our men have faced the enemy of liberty and beaten him; are we to cringe, when they come home, before the enemy of Truth? Are we to teach these men what is not true, or fear to teach what is? Is religion, based on the Rock of Ages, woven into the warp and weft of the world, integral and eternal, in the heart of nature, to be clothed in narrow creeds, in age long ignorance, in terror and timidity and superstition? Are men to be afraid of God lest, like a German, He throw them into an everlasting fire?

The Creator of the World, the beneficent Ruler of Mankind, the Eternal Father of His Children, is not the invention of some ancient priest that we should be afraid lest He crumble. The Everlasting God can stand four-square to all the winds that blow. The Church that is afraid God will collapse, and faith break down, and the pulpit fall to pieces if science is true, is an idol of Baal and will perish. He who laid the foundations of the earth when the morning stars sang together has no need of it. The God of Moses, the God of the beginning and the end, is not smothered in a scientific textbook. Science has no contradiction of God; it has no conflict with Truth. Science is the name we give to man's explanations of God's universe, and the deeper we peer into science the more inevitable and illimitable is God.

The war has not broken Christianity down; it has strengthened the faith of men and set it on a rock. We believe in a God Who has not broken down before the Kaiser, but rules over the nations of Europe, and it rests with the Church to teach the everlasting truth or to perish in its sinking sands.

STORY TELLING.

A FUTURE PASTIME.

With an extraordinary elan of the heart, we realise that the day is really dawning when the war-worn men from France will return—bringing their stories with them. Stray stories we have had, but leave has been short, and the men have often preferred to shunt the war into a side line and live only in the joy of the few days at home.

But for years to come our favourite pastime will be story telling. It is an entertainment as old as the hills, and began, wise folks say, in the East, where there was infinite leisure, no love of action, but a greater love for hearing the wonderful and impossible things that people never did.

It is probable that we shall have some Minchons, but the real stories will be so strange and dreadful that imagination will falter and faint at the mere idea of adding to them.

In the old days in lonesome parts of the Highlands the favourite social gathering was a ceilidh. To the selected farmhouse boats with curved sails came skimming over the moon-lit lochs, and the stout farm carts with rough-coated ponies came over miles of steep and stony roads to the tryst. The big farm kitchen, with three or four concealed beds, was cleared, and the beds made excellent boxes where the audience could sit dangling their legs over the edge of them, and listen to the tales that were told. The women brought their knitting and the men told their tales, and by-and-by there was dancing to the music of the fiddle and the bagpipes.

TALES OF THE STRICKEN FIELD. But in the ceilidhs to come both men and women will have tales to tell. The men's will be of the stricken field, but women will tell of their rough lives in the forest where the trees were felled, and of long motor-drives on lonely hill roads amid the snow; of the cold frost and red sun-rises when they drove the motor-tractors over the heavy fields.

It will do both men and women good to have each other again. They have been too long apart. The women have got a little mannish, and rather heavy in hand. The responsibility of voting has made them think that it is important to be in earnest; they have got to learn that one may vote carefully yet cheerily, and that if politics are taken humorously so much the better. The acid politician is never a really wise one.

For four years our men have lived in terms of jolly comradeship, and, as far as society goes, they have got on splendidly without women. It is up to the women to show they can be as jolly and tell a tale as well as a man.

The woman is not by nature a good raconteuse. She is apt to be both profir and sentimental, and her humour lacks balance. It either effervesces or is non-existent. The discreet sparkle of champagne, enough yet not too much, is seldom attained by her. Yet it was a woman who told the most wondrous tales of all—told them, too, in fear of her very life. Scheherazade was the Queen of Story-Tellers, and, if they cultivate the art, women may be queens of story-telling still.

ABSORBING SHELL GIRLS.

Although thousands of girls and women have been engaged on war work in Sheffield, no steps have yet been taken for putting in force wholesale discharges. Many women are leaving voluntarily; others are being transferred to different branches of industry. It is expected that when war work entirely ceases, the local bureau will be able to deal with the great majority of employees, male and female, who will be affected. In nearly all cases firms intend to give 14 days' notice before dispensing with the services of munition workers.

HISTORIC MIDNIGHT.

WAR WAS DECLARED.

A dramatic story of how, at midnight on August 4, 1914, the Empire was informed that we were at war was revealed recently by Lord Harcourt, who was Colonial Secretary in the first ten months of the conflict. He related it to the Empire Parliamentary Association.

"On that unforgettable night," he said, "I was in the Cabinet room, Downing-street, with a few colleagues. Our eyes were on the clock, our thoughts on one subject only; but there was a noble effort to direct our conversation to other matters. We were waiting for a reply, which we knew full well would come, to our ultimatum to Berlin. When Big Ben struck 11.30—midnight in Berlin—we left the room, knowing that the British Empire was at war."

"I crossed to the Colonial Office, to send a war telegram to the whole of the British Empire. I asked the official in charge of that duty how long it would take. He said, 'About six minutes.'"

"I asked him to return to my room when he had done his work. In seven minutes he was back there, and before morning I received an acknowledgment of my telegram from every single Colonial Protectorate, and even a letter in the Pacific."

"So the grim machinery of war began revolving, in perfect order and with perfect preparation, because, more than two years previously an individual war-book had been prepared by the Colonial Committee of Defence for every single Protectorate and island. It was at the moment locked in the safe of each Governor or Commissioner, and they knew at once what to do."

Lord Harcourt also made an interesting disclosure about South Africa when the rebels went off with shell, arms and ammunition possessed by the Union Government.

"General Botha telegraphed to me to replace the arms and ammunition at the earliest possible moment. I turned naturally, but not very hopefully, to Lord Kitchener. His reply was: 'No, my friend; not one rifle or cartridge shall be diverted from the European front.'"

"So I searched the world over for five or six days, and ultimately, in a friendly country, I found the arms and ammunition I wanted. An empty ship was dispatched, the arms and ammunition were loaded in 30 hours, and in 16 days they reached Cape Town. That 16 days was the most critical period for the Union of South Africa that it has gone through since it was formed."

Lord Harcourt also recalled that although we never lost a colony during the war, we were within 24 hours of doing so in the Falkland Isles, which were saved for us by our Fleet. The history, the preparation, the voyage and the accomplishments of that Fleet was a story which he hoped might now be told.

$10,000,000 TO CHARITY.

According to her will, Margaret Olive Slocum Sage, widow, New York, requested that $8,000,000 or $10,000,000 of her estate should go to charity. Her brother, Colonel Joseph Slocum Slocum, gets $2,000,000. The sum set aside for charity is divided among 36 religious, educational, and charitable institutions, with a request that it should be used to commemorate her husband.

JAPAN AND CHINA.

The Shanghai Chinese Press Association has sent a circular telegram to all newspapers in Japan asking them to give full support to the new doctrine proposed by the Japanese government that she is ready to abandon her special position in China so as to create entirely new relations between China and the rest of the nations. The telegram is being distributed through a Japanese Press Association.

HONGKONG EDUCATIONAL NEEDS.

If an educational history of Hongkong were to be written, we have no doubt that among the institutions singled out for high praise the Diocesan Boys' School would be given a prominent place. From its doors have poured forth a steady stream of lads who have had the advantages of a good training, mental and moral, and who have "made good" in many spheres of activity. The School has "maintained a high record of which it has every right to be proud, and since the establishment of the University here it has obtained most gratifying successes in the Matriculation Examinations, which have reflected the thoroughness of the instruction imparted within its walls. Schools like these, in fact, act as feeders to the University and so fulfil a most important role in the education of the rising generation here. Coupled with sound training, the School has been the means of inculcating high principles and ideals and has thus fully equipped many a lad for the battle of life. What it has accomplished, however, has been largely due to the whole-hearted enthusiasm and steady, plodding work of those directing its energies. To-day its funds are hampered because of inadequate buildings and equipment, to say nothing of playing fields, scholarships and endowments. That is why a special appeal was made to old boys and others interested, by the new Headmaster on Saturday, to start a large Endowment and Building Fund in connection with the School. That appeal is worthy of a big response, and we can only hope that it will not have been made in vain.

We pen the foregoing remarks because we realise that anything which improves the status and extends the opportunities of schools in Hongkong is bound to raise the educational standard of the Colony. It is true, as Mr. Featherstone says, that better housing and better education are demanded and that the one problem is intimately connected with the other. That is especially the case in regard to a large proportion of the non-European population of the Colony. We cannot, as the Headmaster pointed out, expect boys and girls to live moral lives under what are often immoral conditions. That is where the value of large graded boarding and day schools, with large playing fields available, would come in. Mr. Featherstone is persuaded that to such schools parents who are affected by the housing problem would be encouraged to send their children, who would have all the advantages of being disciplined and educated in a good class boarding institution and who could go home say once a month. We believe, with him, that such a school would fill a long-felt need and also attract students from the Treaty Ports and outlying places. In this way, another forward step would be taken in making Hongkong what it should be—a centre of learning having an influence over a wide sphere in this part of the globe.

Developments such as these, however, mean more money, for it is indisputable that education is becoming more costly as time goes on. What suited a past generation in buildings, equipment and in the type of teacher will not do for the present or the future. That fact is being realised at Home, where the tendency is all the time towards material improvements and the attracting of the best type of teachers into the profession. Apart from the replacing of inadequate and out-of-date buildings by better school premises, Hongkong will in the future have to pay larger salaries to its teachers if it is to secure the best type of men and women for the work. That is what is being done at Home, and we shall have to follow suit here as well. In fact, the whole educational system of the Colony, as we have many times urged, needs overhauling. But that is a bigger question which we do not touch at the moment. We are glad to see, however, by the observations at the Diocesan School prize-day, that the need for improvement in education is felt locally, and if the School succeeds in developing itself along the lines suggested, something at any rate will have been done to increase the educational facilities of the Colony.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A STARTLING DECISION.

"Apparently we have applauded the exit of secret diplomacy prematurely." Thus says a Renter's message regarding the Peace Conference decision that the newspapers shall not be authorised to publish anything regarding the work of the Conference beyond the official communications. Elsewhere the message speaks of the resolve to "keep the Press at arm's length and the public in ignorance." These observations, read in conjunction with the recent British Foreign Office announcement that there would be no censorship of British correspondents' messages from Paris during the Conference, make us wonder what has happened. British correspondents will extract small comfort from the fact that the Foreign Office is not going to censor their messages when they know they are not allowed to despatch any beyond official communications. The concession is a most magnanimous one! When we read that there have been strong journalistic protests against this resolve of the Conference to perpetuate official control of Press messages, we are not surprised. All along we have been led to believe that the war was being fought, among other things, to abolish secret diplomacy and to ensure that the full light of day should be permitted to play on international dealings. And yet here we have pending a gathering, not of mixed enemies and friends, but of Allies, who are to arrange the terms of peace in the dark. In other words, a handful of men are to be given the right of deciding the biggest issues of the age while the peoples who have made military and naval victory possible are not to be fully informed of what is occurring.

WHY THE SECRECY?

We have seen the manner in which, during the war, the official communication system was abused; how it kept the people in ignorance of many things which they ought to have been told and which they had a right to know. We are told that there "acute differences" even among the five Great Powers. That may be so, but nothing is to be gained by seeking to cover them up. Let us know all about them; let public opinion be brought to play upon the issues. There is something inherently objectionable in secrecy. A thing which needs covering up must be shady in character. The nature of our war aims, as enunciated by our statesmen in a thousand and one utterances, show that Britain has no designs which will not bear the light of day. Then wherein lies the need of secrecy? We would like to know what Mr. Lloyd George and President Wilson think of the matter.

WORK FOR THE GERMANS.

By German hands many fair and smiling districts of France have been devastated; by German hands they will be restored. The French Government has decided to make use of war-prisoner labour in this way. Batches of Huns are to be sent to work in the despoiled districts and by March next some 200,000 will be so employed. This is a most appropriate decision, and we can only hope that these Huns will find the jobs given them of a character which will work their souls out. Anyhow, they will be able to see with their own eyes what their countrymen have done, and, possibly, in some instances, will have to repair damage which they themselves have committed. There are some things, of course, which they can never adequately repair, but for these their Government must be made to pay in the indemnity. These German hordes will go back to the devastated regions of France in a greatly chastened mind. The day was when they did this damage thinking that they would at any rate win the war, and that whatever they did they could not be punished for. Now they have to rebuild where they have destroyed, and we can only hope that they will be kept at the task till the work is thoroughly completed.

DAY BY DAY.

TRUE POWER WAS NEVER BORN OF BRITISH STRENGTH.

The opening rate of the dollar on demand to-day was 3s. 3.3-18d.

There were no cases of communicable diseases notified on Saturday.

Subscribers to the Hongkong Telegraph who may have occasion to complain of late delivery or non-arrival of their papers will be serving their own interests, and ours as well, by promptly notifying the Manager of any such irregularities.

Billiard players are reminded that entries for the Annual Open Billiard Championship of the Colony, held under the auspices of the Victoria Recreation Club, close on Wednesday, the 22nd January. All entries, together with entrance fee of $2, should be sent to the Hon. Secretary, Victoria Recreation Club on or before that date.

The present month is a stock-taking period for the Chinese. One of them was blessed with all he wanted except a few glass panes. These had to be secured at any cost before the Chinese New Year. After he obtained what he wanted, the Police secured him, and Mr. Wool has ordered that the man should spend the festive period in a Government institution.

We learn that the s.s. Fau Sang, belonging to the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company Ltd., which has been doing Government service in the Gulf of Persia, has been released and has arrived in Hongkong. This is the first of the local requisitioned steamers to be released, but the boat will still be under the local requisition regulations. Other vessels of the fleet are to be released soon.

"My name is changed. My previous name was Li, but I am now Li Lam." A nice method of changing names before the Chinese New Year: the gods will not recognise old rascals in their new garb. This metamorphosis of the Chinese was a hawker who was released on bail on Saturday for hawking without a licence and this morning was again arrested by the Police for the same offence. Mr. Melbourne:—"Tut, tut, tut, tut." After that came the mandate $4. Quite simple.—Each "tut" was a signal to the defendant that it costs a dollar.

Electric filament lamps will not be very dear after British ships are released. They are at present not very expensive. They have proved every costly to a Chinese, who strolled off with three belonging to the China Steam Navigation Company. He wanted plenty of light and sunshine in his home on Chinese New Year, but these will now be provided by the Government for a period of six weeks. If Ramsay MacDonald heard his complaint, as he related it to Mr. J. R. Wood this morning, probably he would have ordered the Government contractor to supply our Chinese friend with a dozen of such lamps. But Mr. J. R. Wood is not a Socialist and that made a world of difference in the angle of vision.

"How many witnesses have you got?" When a defendant is greeted with such a query by the Magistrate he hurriedly comes to the conclusion that the Magistrate is desirous of giving him his freedom. He then takes a mental flight, and tries to recall some of his friends. There is the tea-shop keeper, there is Lam Kai-ling with whom he plays "fanton" occasionally, and there is Beggar-Neighbour, who keeps an eating house. One man when he was put this question this morning by Mr. J. R. Wood thought these were serviceable straws for his purpose. The names were given to the Magistrate, who ordered the Police to go on a wild goose chase with the defendant.

CURRENT COIN.

[BY "MERCATOR."]

American activities in Siberia have given our Japanese friends big wrinkles. The latter argue that Japan has been outdone by America, notwithstanding her propinquity to Siberia. The news, therefore, that the Washington Government has established an official Russian trading company as a branch of the War Trade Board, with a capital of $5,000,000 has caused some excitement mixed with uneasiness among those Japanese who regard every sign of American activity in Russia with alarm as being threatening to Japan. Americans having been conducting investigations in some Siberian districts since five years ago, and have succeeded in securing many rights and interests. On the other hand, Japanese enterprises in Northern Asia have been confined to a desire for obtaining immediate profit to the detriment of permanent interests. The Japanese lack the capacity to lay down a gigantic scheme with an eye to future interests. There is a lack of sufficient Japanese enterprise in the study and carrying out of economic undertakings in Siberia.

Prior to the war Russia was, economically speaking, German territory to all intents and purposes, though politically she was a great Empire. The manufacture of goods, their transportation and sale, were all in the hands of Germans, and it seems that America intends to step into Germany's shoes after the war. The war has so completely deranged the whole economic organisation of Russia, that restoration to its former state is a task too big for private concerns in America to undertake successfully. This consideration has caused the Washington Government to set its own hand to the task. The American scheme is interpreted by the Japanese as having for its object the bringing of one-seventh of the habitable land of the world under America's economic influence. There is a bright future for America in Siberia, and cordial relations exist between the natives of that region and the Americans. It is the height of folly for the Japanese to indulge in malicious conjectures regarding the intentions of Americans and to regard their actions with suspicious eyes. A weekly American Magazine is soon to be published at Vladivostok with the object of cultivating friendly relations between the Americans and Russians, and to acquaint the latter with interesting events occurring in America. An information bureau is also on the eve of being established at Vladivostok, with branches at Harbin, Irkutsk, Omsk and other places. All these are giving the Japanese the jumps. On the occasion of the despatch of Allied troops to Siberia, America declared that her assistance to Russia would not be confined to military aid, but would be economic and moral also. She has indeed, been prompt in carrying out her promise. More power to her elbow.

Taken on the whole, China produced good food crops last year, the exception being Kwangtung Province, which suffered from severe floods in the late summer. Exports have been limited necessarily, tea, silk, egg products, hides, straw braid and grain all falling off heavily in quantity, although good prices have been paid for whatever has been handled. It is useless to attempt any comparisons of the trade done during last year with that of the previous year. In the first place all goods at points of production have been costing from four to five times as much as they did in pre-war days, and this fact alone is sufficient to account for a falling off in imports from Europe and America and the enormous increase in the consumption of locally made cloth and Japanese productions. China produced a fine crop of cotton last September—probably the largest she has ever harvested, and the staple showed great improvement on previous growths.

HONGKONG HARBOUR INCIDENT.

ARMED CHINESE BOATS ADVENTURE.

An extraordinary occurrence is said to have taken place in Hongkong Harbour a few nights ago.

It appears that when the fighting between the North and the South broke out, five launches, which had been doing patrol work in the Canton Delta, remained loyal to the Northerners and took refuge within the waters of the Harbour where they apparently had remained ever since.

On the evening of the 14th inst., a boat, believed to belong to the Canton Government, and which was armed with a 3.5 gun, two machine-guns forward, and two machine-guns aft, and manned by about seventy men, stole into the Harbour, put a line aboard one of the launches and commenced to tow it out of the Harbour. The Water Police went in pursuit and overtook the launch well within the waters of the Harbour, but it was then realised that it was a case of the Police allowing the fugitive to escape or commencing an action in which they would have been hopelessly outnumbered, so the two boats escaped.

There is a regular commercial panic in Japan to-day. Hundreds of firms and brokers in Osaka, Kobe and Yokohama are on the rocks. The situation has given the Japanese furiously to think. Hundreds of firms in the Land of the Geishas appear to have been seriously affected by the sudden conclusion of the truce. The outlook in commercial circles is very gloomy. Not a few firms and factories have become bankrupt, while many factories have been closed. Business, so far concluded, is daily being cancelled by indentors, while dealers and brokers in iron, chemicals and other articles have petitioned iron foundries and factories not to supply stuff for the time being in order to regulate the demand and supply.

The outlook in shipping circles is ominous, and many small shippers that sprang up like mushrooms during the war are, on the statement of the Japan Chronicle, busy going through the necessary complicated proceedings with regard to applications for attachment to ships or for permission to dispose of them by public auction. Such is the result of the peace slump. Now, save the pieces! Gott strafe the German Bolsheviks!!!

Shanghai is suffering from a severe monetary stringency at present. Many dealers find it difficult to finance their goods and the tightness of the money market is being felt in all departments, and business is greatly restricted. December was marked by a financial crisis that might easily have brought disaster to the whole Chinese banking system, if it were not for assistance in the form of loans made by some of the foreign banks. This was the culmination of a long period of financial stringency leading up to the usual annual settlement of accounts on December 31st, which involved the paying out of more Sycee than the native institutions held in their coffers. Some of the more ignorant Chinese took fright and there was a run on some of the large Japanese banks, but this was happily tided over. The supplies of silver in Shanghai in stock and sight are dangerously small and quite insufficient for the needs of the market.

The establishment of a Japanese Exchange at Shanghai has excited rivalry and the Chinese have now responded by establishing a new Shanghai stock exchange to be known as the Shanghai Exchange Co., Ltd. This is the first Chinese stock exchange dealing with produce and it is provided that no foreigners will be allowed seats on the exchange. The business dealt in will be stocks and shares, cotton and yarn, piece goods, and provisions.

CANTON MEDICAL MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Canton Medical Missionary Society was held at the Canton Hospital on January 17th. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. In absence of the Secretary, Dr. M. Wright, Dr. C. A. Hayes elected Secretary pro tem.

On motion of Rev. J. M. H. the following By-law was adopted to the constitution of the Society written notice having been given at the annual meeting held at the Club Theatre, Shamshing, March 20th, 1918:—By-law 1.—The Executive Committee of the Society shall consist of President, Secretary, Treasurer, Senior Vice-President, and representatives on the Board, Directors of the Canton Medical Missionary Union.

The report of the Board, Directors of the Canton Medical Missionary Union was read and approved.

The reports of the chairman of the medical staff and the business manager were taken as read, same to be printed soon.

The report of the Hon. Treasurer was read and approved.

Voted to approve of the report of the nominating committee naming the following as officers of the Society for the ensuing year:—President, Rev. J. M. Henry; Vice-President, Rev. A. A. Fulton, Rev. Edgar Dewstee. Hon. Vice-President J. W. Jamieson Esq., C. M. G. H. B. M. Consul General, A. W. Pontius Esq., American Consul General, Dr. W. G. Reynolds, G. D. Festen Esq., Robert Shaw Esq., Mrs. John G. Kerr; Hon. Treasurer, E. H. Smyth Esq., Hon. Secretary, Dr. C. A. Hayes Hon. Auditor, H. C. Shrubsole Esq.

Mr. E. H. Smyth was elected representative of the Society on the Board of Directors of the Canton Medical Missionary Union to take the place of Rev. C. W. Shoop who resigned owing to change of residence.

Notice was given by Mr. E. H. Smyth of proposal to change the constitution (Article 6), so as to change the membership fee from $10.00 to $5.00 per year.

A rising vote of thanks was given to the retiring officers, after which the meeting adjourned.

HONGKONG SHIPPING.

THE ADMIRAL LINE.

The Admiral Line, of which Mr. J. J. Gorman is General Agent, with Oriental headquarters at Hongkong, have just received advices from their head office at Seattle that the U.S. Shipping Board has turned over to them three large steamers to be operated in the trade between the Pacific Coast and the Far East. The names of these steamers are the Yukon, Derencof, and Western Knight, with freight capacities of 8,000 to 9,000 tons deadweight each. Two of these steamers sailed from Seattle for Vladivostok this month, and the third will be dispatched early in February. All of these steamers will be calling at Yokohama, Kobe, Shanghai, Manila and Hongkong.

In addition to the above ships, the Admiral Line have seven of their own vessels now operating in the trade between the Orient and Seattle. These are the steamers Admiral Goodrich, Admiral Wainwright, Senator, and the motor auxiliary ships Admiral Sims, Admiral Mayo, W. F. Burrows and Libby Maine, all of these ships making the regular ports of call in the Orient. Further vessels will be added to this service as soon as conditions warrant.

The Admiral Line have already opened offices at Manila, Vladivostok and Hongkong and soon will establish their own offices at the various other Far Eastern ports. The local office is temporarily located at No. 12, Ice House Street; but will soon be removed to permanent quarters in the shipping district.

Our reports of Saturday's football matches are owing to pressure on our space, held over until to-morrow.

WHEN THE NERVES GIVE WAY.

ACT PROMPTLY TO ARREST THE MISCHIEF.

Hardly any condition of ill-health deserves more pity than that for which there is generally no sympathy. Men and women with nerves out of gear become irritable and fretful and are blamed for ill-temper; whereas it is not their fault. Their health is the cause. Often the nerves have given way under the strain of working for the very people who reproach the sufferer. The tired wife or mother, the bread-winner whose anxiety for family has worried him until he is thin and ill, are the nerve-sufferers who become run down.

Their nerves, like all the body's organs, need healthy red blood: worry tells on their digestion and their nerves are ill-fed. In such cases a course of Dr. Williams' pink pills make new blood and tone up the nervous system, by which method they invigorate those whose nerves have given away. The patients become high spirited and full of energy. Nervous starts and irritability are gone. Happiness returns to themselves and others returns.

If your blood is thin and watery, if your nerves are weak, you can begin to get well now, for Dr. Williams' pink pills are to be obtained of medicine vendors everywhere, also post free one bottle for $1.50, six for $8.40, from the China offices of the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 98, Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

The Howitt-Phillips Co., arrived here yesterday. They open at the Theatre Royal to-night with "Peg o' My Heart." We hear that the booking is very heavy.

THE CORONET

We are now planning to give you what you have never yet had in a Cinema in Hongkong—both a serial and a five-part picture in the same programme. We are also making it possible for you to come to the Coronet any time between 5.15 and 6.15 p.m. and see the complete show.

In every programme we shall show either a Pathe, a Fox or a Paramount 5-part feature and we have secured a very lively serial of a sensible rather than a sensational kind, entitled, "The Social Pirates" to accompany it. Each episode of this is complete in itself, so that you need not kick yourself if you happen to be so unfortunate as to miss a Programme. The first which we are screening to-night, is entitled "The Little Monte Carlo." We are also in treaty for another very amusing serial of which more anon.

Our to-day's "Continuous Programme" will be as follows:—

- 1.—5.15 p.m. Overture.
- 2.—5.20 "The pursuit of the Aigrette—Pathe Color.
- 3.—5.25 "The little Monte Carlo" in two parts.
- 4.—5.55 "Whiffles Singing Lessons—Comedy.
- 5.—6.15 Interlude.
- 6.—6.20 "William Farnum in "A Gilded Fool" in 5 parts.
- 7.—7.35 Interlude.
- 8.—7.40 Repeat No. 2.
- 9.—7.45 Repeat No. 3.
- 10.—8.15 Repeat No. 4.
- 8.40 "Performance closes.

Our usual full performance will be held at 9.15 p.m.

SHIPPING NEWS.

NOVEL SALVAGE OPERATION.

The Press Association says:— Many interesting tales could be told of how the Admiralty Salvage Department have saved ships during the war. Some are romantic; others thrilling. But novelty, combined with mystery, attaches to the salvaging of the cross-channel steamer Onward, which plied between a French port and a southern port on the English Coast. The boat was moored at the English port, and at about 11 o'clock at night, for no reason that could then be discovered, the fore part of the ship burst into fierce flames. In order to prevent the fire spreading to the quay the Onward was towed a little distance away and scuttled. She listed and rolled on to her side in the comparatively shallow water. Then the salvage men got to work. Alongside the quay is a railway track and the idea struck them of using locomotives to raise the sunken steamer.
Strong wire ropes were fastened round the derelict bulk and worked through tripods fixed on the quay. These ropes were attached to the locomotives, which commenced the Herculean task of literally dragging the big ship into an upright position.
The five railway engines put on full steam and commenced to tug with all their strength. It was a tremendous struggle. The locomotives panted, snorted, and strained, but for a time were unable to move. Eventually their combined efforts began to tell. The vessel was slowly heaved from her resting place, and with the aid of tugs kept clear of the quay and dragged into an upright position. She was patched up temporarily and towed to the Thames for repairs.
Mystery still enshrouds the origin of the fire. The fierceness of the outbreak indicated that thermal bombs had been thrown into the fore part of the ship. It was probably an act of treachery.

REFRIGERATING SHIPS.

Fast refrigerating ships to carry the perishable products of Southern California to eastern and foreign markets are to be built and operated by the United States Shipping Board, according to advice sent to fruit-growers
by Mr. Edward N. Hurley, chairman of America's federal shipping organization. Mr. Hurley announced that plans have already been outlined and soon will be put into effect to build refrigerat-ing ships especially for the Southern California fruit and dairy trade. Special types of grain carriers and fast combined passenger and cargo liners for the Latin-American trade also are to be added to the American merchant marine with a few months.

ELECTRICAL DEVELOPMENTS IN FRANCE.

It will surprise many people to learn that the demands of the American forces have led to a really considerable development of electrical supply in France. It has not been a question of putting into operation one or two central stations, but of providing a large number of small units. In planning these extensions special regard has been had to possible peace demands. In addition to several steam electric power stations that have been built by American labour in France, consideration has also been given to the utilisation of water power, but underlying the whole scheme is the intention to make the hydro-electric plants a permanent addition to the power resources of our Ally. Several hydro-electric plants are now under construction ranging in power from 2,000
k.w. to 8,000 k.w. The whole of the equipment is designed in accordance with French practice, which is at variance with American ideas. An example of the difference between the electrical installations of the two countries is that the French employ direct current to a very limited extent, the conventional system being three phase at 50 cycles. At the present time interest naturally centres on the needs of peace industries, and it is obvious that the new stations which have been put in operation or are under construction will form an important addition to French power installations.

CALCUTTA LINE—This line is temporarily discontinued owing to the war, but at present a monthly service is maintained with Calcutta by the S.S. "KWARANG" and "KATUN" sailing at Singapore and Penang. The former vessel has excellent passenger accommodation, is fitted with Electric Light and Fans, and carries a fully qualified Surgeon.

SINGAPORE LINE—The S.S. "VAN WALKER" leaves for Singapore approximately every fourteen days. This vessel has excellent accommodation for first class passengers, and is fitted throughout with Electric Light and Fans and also carries a fully qualified Surgeon.

SHANGHAI LINE—Sailings approximately every few days between Canton and Shanghai, seasonal service. Through bills of lading on this line have a limited number of passengers, second class, and through tickets can be obtained for Northern and Yangtze Ports via Shanghai.
Through bills of lading are issued to all Northern and Yangtze Ports.

MANILA LINE—A weekly service is maintained with Manila by vessels with good passenger accommodation, sailings from both ports every Friday.

HAIKONG LINE—Sailings approximately weekly for passengers and cargo, sailing at Haikow when independent of others.

BOERNEO LINE—One sailing per month between Hongkong and Sandakan by a steamer having space for accommodation for passengers.

Cargo taken on through Bills of lading for Kaitai, Jesselton, Labuan, Ulu, and Labud Dang.
TIENTSIN LINE—A regular service is run from March to October between Hongkong and Tientsin sailing at Wanchow and Choboo.

GERMANY'S GRIEVANCES AGAINST ALLIES.

ERZBERGER COMPLAINS TO FOCH.

Amsterdam, January 17.
A message from Berlin states that an official statement says that at the Armistice negotiations Marshal Foch arrived in a saloon carriage. Herr Erzberger complained that peace was being delayed, that the economic movement between Germany and occupied Germany was destroyed, that the measures in Alsace Lorraine showed that France aimed at anticipating the decision of the Peace Conference by annexing the provinces without consulting the people, and that the blockade was making conditions in Germany worse with a possible consequence of a world revolution.

DEATH OF A BARON OF PORTUGAL.

London, January 8 (delayed).
The death is announced of Lord Michelham.
[Lord Michelham of Hellingly was previously Mr. Herbert Stern. He was a Baron of Portugal and senior partner in the firm of Herbert Stern and Co., of London.]

THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN SQUADRON.

STRONG SQUADRON DESPATCHED TO MALTA.

London, January 19.
The Sunday Express states that the Government intends to revive the British Mediterranean squadron and is sending thither a particularly strong squadron. It declares that orders have been given for the First Battle Squadron to prepare for two years for foreign service. The Squadron will include the Iron Duke, the Benbow, the Marlborough, the Emperor of India and the Canada. A light cruiser squadron and two flotillas of destroyers will accompany, and the base will be Malta as hitherto.

TEA AUCTIONS FOR EXPORT RENEWED.

GOVERNMENT SUPPLIES BEING CAREFULLY LIQUIDATED.

London, Jan. 8 (delayed).
A million pounds of tea are being experimentally auctioned, for export to-day. It is understood that the minimum limits fixed by the Food Ministry for auction compare well with the net prices received by the Government for tea sold in the United Kingdom. It is pointed out that the size of the stocks in the United Kingdom, which were 144,674,000 lbs. at the end of December, may be an obstacle to a early abandonment of the Government system since the supplies must carefully be liquidated in order to cover expenses.

THE CASUALTIES IN SINKING OF "CHAOLIA"

Paris, January 17.
Four hundred and sixty lives were lost in the sinking of the steamer Chaolia (not Chapiro as incorrectly cabled this morning from Rome).

ANOTHER C. B. E. FOR CHINA.

London, January 8 (delayed).
The Gazette announces that the C. B. E. has been awarded, for services during the war, to Mr. T. J. Bourne, the War Office representative in China.

DAY BY DAY.

The Director of Education, Mr. E. A. Irving, has consented to distribute the prizes at the Yauanai Government School on Thursday, 23rd January, at 11 a.m.

There is a big demand for labor in Holland. First is stated on the authority of a Chinese banishé, who gave it to Mr. U. D. Melbourne this morning. Our banishé admitted being banished, but said it was not very clear for how many years. All that he remembered was that he was banished in 1912. Mr. Melbourne: "Do you know how long you have been banished for?" "I have forgotten about it. Since I came back from Malacca I have forgotten about it. I arrived here two or three days ago." Inspector O'Sullivan enlightened the Magistrate that the man was banished for life from Singapore and was given a similar punishment by the Hongkong Government. The Magistrate: "Do you remember being banished in Singapore?" "Yes." "For how long?" "I have forgotten it." "And what are you going to do in the Colony?" "A friend has told me to come here. He told me a number of people were wanted in Holland." "Inspector O'Sullivan suggested that the defendant may have meant Java. But no, the banishé persisted in saying Holland. The story has how the Police lighted on this man was narrated by the Inspector. On Sunday he was arrested in the act of stealing a fountain pen from the pocket of a passer-by, and after his arrest, when his finger prints were taken, mirabile dictu he was an old pal of the Police. The Magistrate: "He says he only arrived here yesterday?" "Anyhow he was arrested in the act of stealing. He made a bad beginning." Before our banishé casts eyes on the Yuyder Zee, he will have to get over the Holland nightmare for 15 months in Hongkong.

We have received from N. Lazarus a neat little booklet entitled "The Opium A.B.C." in which are reproductions in two colours of advertisements which have already appeared in the South China Morning Post. We congratulate N. Lazarus on the successful treatment of a difficult, and at the same time, interesting subject.

Mr. R. C. Faithfull is anxious to reform the Hongkong Police. This morning when he appeared in Mr. Melbourne's Court on behalf of a Chinese who was passing through Hongkong from South Africa he waxed eloquent on the "poison state of Denmark." As a preamble, it may be mentioned that this Chinese was arrested on Saturday on the Praya, in Chuanmugat Road, as he landed here. His luggage was examined, and in a tin containing coffee and labelled "glass with care" was a revolver. He said that he was coming from Wynburg (South Africa) and been away from home for over eighteen years. He was returning to his village, Mr. Melbourne: "In China are you allowed to carry arms?" "The Chinese: I do not know the law. I have been away too long." Mr. Melbourne: "Did you tell your wife to put the revolver in?" "No. I am married too long—evidently a suggestion that the wife knew her work. Thus Mr. Faithfull: "I ask your Worship to consider this case as out of the ordinary run of things. I had said that if the matter was brought to his knowledge by the Police as soon as he arrived the whole thing would have been settled. The man cannot get a permit on board the ship. It is very reasonable to assume that his wife packed the revolver. If he had been informed by the Revenue or Police officer and told to take out a permit, knowing that he was passing through Hongkong, all this would not have happened. The Arms Ordinance was passed after he left the Colony." Mr. Melbourne passed the following ordinance: $50 fine and the revolver to be confiscated.

If a gambler and his cash and paraphernalia could be confiscated, how the Police would rejoice. Under the present circumstances, unless the powers of the Magistrate can be enlarged so as to confiscate gamblers, we must be satisfied with seeing only the gambler's cash confiscated. One gambler who was seen in a crowd playing "fan-tan" with stakes was the only soul that was netted by the Police yesterday. The cash that he had on his person was ordered by Mr. Wood to be confiscated and, if two dollars was not forthcoming his person is to be held to ransom.

Marquis Hachiro Saionji, Prince Kowji, Mr. Matsuoaka and Dr. Katsumina are due to arrive here by the Tamba Maru on or about the 23rd inst. They are bound for the European Peace Conference and it is anticipated that the party will stay at the Hongkong Hotel while the vessel is in port.

Professor H. A. Lorentz, Leyden, has been awarded the Copley medal, of the Royal Society; Professor Charles Farry and Dr. Alfred Perot jointly receive the Rumford medal; and Professor Alfred Fowler receives the Royal Medal.

STATUE TO CAPTAIN BALL, V.C.

A cheque for $200 has been received for the statue to the memory of Captain Ball, V.C., from the officer commanding the 3rd Volunteer Herts Regiment. The officer explains that this sum was collected from some of the famous airman's admirers.

OPTIONAL DRILL FOR VOLUNTEERS.

It has been decided (says the War Office) to suspend for the present the appointment of candidates to commission the Volunteer Force and the enrolment of men into the various corps. This will involve the suspension of all action for the enrolment of men exempted by tribunals with the liability to join the Volunteer Force. It has further been decided to relax the provisions of drill and training agreements. Although training facilities will be continued, attendance at drill will be purely voluntary.

ST. PAUL'S COLLEGE.

PRIZE DISTRIBUTION.

The prize distribution in connection with St. Paul's College took place on Saturday night, the awards being distributed by the Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock, K. C. The day was also observed as a commemoration of seventy years educational work in St. Paul's College and ten years of the present school.

In the morning commemorative buttons were presented to all the students and a special thanksgiving service was held in St. Paul's Church, attended by members of the College Council, Staff and Students, the Church being filled to its fullest capacity. The Bishop gave a brief account of the past history of the College, pointing out how much was due to its founder, Rev. Vincent Stanton, and urging the students to make full use of their opportunities.

An entertainment commenced at 7 p.m. and was followed with keen enjoyment by what was probably the largest attendance that has been present at a similar function in connection with the College. The presentation took place at 9 p.m. The Bishop of Victoria, Rt. Rev. Dr. Lander, presided, being supported by Mr. Pollock and the Rev. A. D. Stewart.

The Rev. A. D. Stewart first read the report, which follows:

To night we meet, not only for the annual Prize Distribution, but also to celebrate the completion of 70 years' educational work in the College and ten years of the present School's existence. Early in 1849, just 70 years ago, this building was opened as an Anglo-Chinese Boys' School by the Rev. Vincent Stanton, the first Colonial Chaplain to Hong Kong. This School continued till 1878 when it was closed and an attempt was made to turn the College into a training institution for English Clergy. This attempt, however, proved unsuccessful and came to an end in little more than a year. An Anglo-Chinese Boys' School was again opened, and continued till 1900 when it was closed by Bishop Hoare and a Training Institution opened for Chinese Preachers and Teachers.

Early in 1909, just ten years ago, the present School was opened under the auspices of the Church Missionary Society, and has been steadily growing ever since. A brief survey of the past ten years may be of more interest on the present occasion than a detailed report of the past year. Opening with a staff of two, and sixteen boys, we closed the first year with five teachers and fifty three boys. The following year the numbers more than doubled and it was difficult to find sufficient accommodation in the space at our disposal. In 1911 however a fine new building was erected mainly through the generosity of Chinese friends, prominent amongst whom was Dr. Wu Tin Fang, a former student in this College in its early days. The number of students was over 300 at the end of that year. The next year the numbers sprang to 300 and a further extension was made, through the rebuilding of the West Wing of the main building. There were then class rooms sufficient for 350 students and from that time we have reached that figure each year, frequently being obliged to refuse admittance.

During the past few years branch Schools have sprung up, enlarging the influence of the College. First the Junior School in Hollywood Road, just four years ago, then three Preparatory Classes in the Hostel Building, then at Aberdeen. This year another has been opened at Yau-mai and the coming year is to see yet one more in distant Shekhi. Thus the School of ten years ago of two teachers and sixteen students has now grown, with its branches, into an institution containing forty six teachers and over six hundred students. During these ten years over one thousand boys have entered the School. Many of these are already proving themselves useful members of Society. It would take too long to enumerate the many channels into which the life of the School is flowing—sufficient to point out that the original purpose for which this College was founded seventy years ago is being fulfilled in that three of its past pupils are studying for the Ministry and a fourth hopes to do so shortly, while 18 have joined the Staff of the School at one time or another, there being now nine "old boys" on the Staff. Two members of the Staff are licensed Lay Readers in the Chinese Church and, with a band of earnest workers from Staff and School, are carrying on an active and successful evangelistic work which includes preaching in three different centres, a Sunday School of over sixty boys, Scripture Union Meetings and other Christian activities. Deeds of charity, too, have not been forgotten. Large sums of money have been collected by the boys to assist poorer Schools elsewhere and the various "Flood Relief" Funds have benefited by thousands of dollars. The educational side of the work has been full of encouragement. In 1910 we made our first attempt at the Oxford Local Examinations and during the next few years had the following passes:—Senior 3, Junior 17, Preliminary 61, with a total of seven Distinctions and six Third Class Honours. In 1913 we changed to Hongkong Locals and, up to the present, have had 19 Senior and 38 Junior Passes with Distinction in 18 Subjects. It is needless to emphasise the fact that these results are due to the faithful, painstaking work of the Staff. Teachers may go and teachers come but the same spirit pervades the School, showing itself in itself, devoted service, much appreciated by students and parents and by none more than by the one on whom rests the main responsibility of the School.

The attendance has been good on the whole. While there has been a great coming and going as in all Hongkong Schools, there has been a large body of students who have remained with us year after year, regular in attendance. We have even one of the original sixteen with us still. Tsoi Wa Fong, who has thus completed ten years in this School. His record however does not beat that of one whose name it would not be just to omit in a survey of the past ten years, Chung U Kong, another "original" who has the fine record of nine years attendance without missing a single day.

It would take too long to give any adequate account of the growth of the athletic side of the work. Suffice to say that under the enthusiastic leadership of successive sports masters, notably of Mr. E. G. Stewart, Mr. Chan Hing Wa, and Mr. A. Rowan, the School has done well in this direction. Of recent years Volley Ball has had a leading place in the affections of the students, mainly I think because it does not need much space. This year we have been successful in this game, winning the Junior League and Open League in the Summer and the Senior League in the Autumn. During the past few years visits have been interchanged with the Canton Christian College and the Pui Ying School, Canton, resulting in a friendly rivalry and leading to the development of a real sporting spirit so valuable an asset in an all-round education.

The past year has been very similar to other years, just a record of steady plodding work, with bright spots to encourage the workers. The attendance has been good on the whole, as many as 23 having attended a single day, and the work in most cases has been satisfactory. Special efforts have been made this year to improve the English composition work and speaking of English together with neatness of writing, specially in the middle and lower classes, with a considerable amount of encouragement. The Chinese Classes too have made good progress, though the study of their own language seems to have little attraction for the majority of Chinese boys. However, by strengthening the Chinese Staff and making the studies compulsory considerable improvement has been noticed. As we look into future it is still with the thought of going forward and plans are now in hand for a considerable enlargement of the School premises. God grant that advance be not merely in brick and mortar but in increased usefulness and service—that the words of our School song may indeed be fulfilled.

"We'll send from these walls a noble band Who will work for the good of their country."

Following this the Bishop said he was chairman of quite a considerable number of educational establishments in this Colony and he regarded them as his children. St. Paul's College was his eldest son as it was the oldest educational institution with which he was connected. It was no less than 70 years old this year. It was seventy years since the then Colonial Chaplain instituted a small work amongst the Chinese boys on that very spot. He put a good deal of work, thought and prayer into the work of the little school and he obtained the title from the British Government and the result had been that ever since that time there had been a school going on there. St. Paul's College had been singularly fortunate in securing for itself enthusiastic and splendid workers. There were few men in the last century of more beautiful spirit than Vincent Stanton. He attributed a great deal of the success of the College to his earnest prayers and work. In more recent times the school had been singularly fortunate in securing the devoted service of the Rev. A. D. Stewart (Applause). It was impossible for him to express what the school was doing; the enormous attendance that evening and the enthusiasm of the Chinese on behalf of the school was a direct indication of that. While Mr. Stewart had been there he had the splendid assistance of his brother and sister and amongst others who had helped him was Mr. Wong Chiu Fong. It was impossible for him to tell them his appreciation of and his thankfulness for the services of Mr. Stewart in connection with St. Paul's College, but on Saturday he was going to make him the greatest and most precious gift he had ever made in his life. He was sure it would enhance his power of service amongst them and no doubt would increase his happiness and make his work more successful than ever. They had with them that evening a gentleman who was very well known in this Colony. He was a member of the Legislative Council where he represented the people and he was fully cognisant with the affairs of this Colony, taking a deep interest in the welfare of its people. His name suggested, "Po Lok," Spreader of Joy. He had come amongst them that evening to give away the prizes. He called upon Mr. Pollock to address them.

The Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock spoke of the great pleasure it gave him to be present at the College to present the prizes. He was ashamed to have to confess to them that although he had been for thirty years resident in this Colony this was the first time he had been present at a prize giving at St. Paul's College. He was now very glad to think that this sad defect in his education had been remedied. As the Rev. Mr. Stewart, to whom the College owed so much, had told them, St. Paul's, with its branches, had gone ahead during the last ten years by leaps and bounds. Beginning only ten years ago with a staff of two teachers and with 16 boys it had expanded with its various branches to a staff of 46 teachers and no less than 600 boys. He ventured to think that must be a record for any school that had ever existed and it spoke volumes for the care that had been bestowed on it and the real hard work that had been done by the Rev. Mr. Stewart and his devoted band of Chinese workers. During the past six years the school had been fortunate in having the efficient services of Mrs. Claxton and since the war began, although the staff had been depleted, the school had also been fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. Walsley, Mr. Mohler and Mr. Gerken. The Rev. Mr. Stewart had pointed out that the school had done well from the educational point of view and also from that of sport. He was glad to see that because the sporting spirit taught men to act together. He had spoken just now of the expansion of the school, but he would like to point out other schemes of expansion that were in contemplation. They would involve the expenditure of very considerable sums, but he was confident in his appeal to the Chinese of this Colony to support St. Paul's College by their contributions. One of the schemes of expansion was the hostel which was being built on the site of the old College gardens. The school premises were also to be extended and he was confident that it was only necessary to mention this scheme of the Chinese who he knew from his experience were very generous in any cause which fully deserved their support. The Rev. Mr. Stewart had told them in the report of the progress that had been made in education and in sport, but that of course was not enough, and he would like to say a few words to them based on the concluding words of the College anthem. "We'll send from these walls, a noble band who will work for the good of their country." He ventured to express the hope that the scholars of St. Paul's College past and present would work for the good of their country, China. (Applause). He hoped they would never forget their Chinese origin and the hopes also that they would not forget how much work there was to be done—noble work—in that vast country which was on their borders. As Dr. Lim Boon Keng said at the University Congregation, China was now in chaos and darkness. This should not be so and he hoped that the scholars of St. Paul's College would do their best in the future to redeem China from this very sad reproach. Perhaps he might, as an old resident of this Colony, make a few remarks on the directions in which he thought they could do much good and useful work. In the first place there was the question of good government. It was a sad fact that officialdom in China was corrupt. It was no good blicking at the fact because it was well known. The only remedy he could see for this corruption was the institution of a civil service in which the officials would be paid so that it was not necessary for them to enhance their salaries by illegal or side means. He hoped China would soon emerge from this corruption. On the matter of communication Mr. Pollock remarked that the ancient Romans had a great idea, and they could still see in Great Britain where the roads still existed, of driving roads through the length and breadth of the country. "In modern times railways had taken the place of roads. Those who were concerned in the future of China wished to see the railway system extended. If this were done it might lead to the conciliation of North and South China, which would not only be for the good of the China but for the whole world." With regard to the concessions for railways he advocated a scheme which did not give any favours to a particular nation. If minerals were found and it was desirable that a railway should be run from that district to some port the concession should be put up for auction in one of the great marts of the world, London, Paris or New York, and given to the highest bidder so that there would be no favour.

Mr. Pollock next touched on the necessity for modern housing and sanitation. He remarked that Dr. Lim Boon Keng had said at the University that in ancient days the cities of China were much more sanitary than they were now. He would strongly urge on the Chinese there present that they should do their best in the matter of adopting modern sanitary principles, because in that way a great deal of loss of life in China, which was altogether unnecessary, could be avoided. Another point was the question of Chinese slavery and that of child labour. He had the privilege only a few weeks ago of listening to an address on this subject by a European lady who had spent the best part of her life here in Hong Kong and he could not help thinking that in this matter they required the co-operation of the Chinese themselves. He hoped that before many years were over they would have secured that co-operation. He hoped they would pardon him for having spoken so frankly. As democracy was spreading he hoped China would come into the movement in the noblest way, that she would set her house in order, set up just administration and ameliorate the conditions of life of her people.

Mr. Pollock then distributed the prizes and at the conclusion was heartily thanked for his address and his services.

The prize list follows:—

A FOOTBALL SUGGESTION.

(To the Editor of the "Hongkong Telegraph.")

Sir,—May I, through the medium of your valuable paper, suggest that a football match be arranged between the South China Athletics and the Indian players of the Hongkong Junior Football League, to take place during the Chinese New Year Holidays?

That this will prove a great attraction one has only to recall the match played on the 12th February 1915, in aid of the Prince of Wales Fund, when several thousands witnessed a game in which the Indians (Islamists) emerged victorious by 5 goals to 1, after a thrilling battle featured by the sterling playing of both units.

The game, as recounted by those who saw the affair, was one of the fastest and cleanest exhibitions of football seen in the Colony in recent years and which the superior side unquestionably won.

The Chinese certainly play excellent football, possessing the art of passing and combination to such a marked degree, that it is always a treat to watch them. In view of this I am certain the Indians are only too eager for another opportunity to recapitulate their old performance over their worthy rivals.

Enclosing my card,

Yours etc.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

RETURNED BANISHEES SENTENCED.

The January Criminal Sessions were opened this morning, before Sir William Rees Davies, K. C., Chief Justice.

The were only two cases before the Court—Lai Tai and Li Chiu, both charged with disobedience of order of banishment. Both accused pleaded guilty.

In the case of Li Chiu, the Crown Solicitor, Mr. G. H. Wake-man, appearing on behalf of the Crown, said the prisoner was arrested on December 19. He was found to be in possession of certain implements which could be used for breaking open things and also an electric torch. He had been banished from the Colony four times. On the final occasion he was banished for life.

Asked if he had anything to say, accused said he had asked permission of the authorities to go to Tai O to sell property left him by his father who had died. He admitted returning again after this without permission.

In passing sentence, His Lordship said that the Police authorities regarded accused as a dangerous person and did not want him here. Sentence must be passed and if accused returned again, the sentence would be much longer. Accused would go to jail for three years with hard labour.

In the case of Lai Tai, the Crown Solicitor said the accused had returned from banishment three times on the last occasion he was banished for life. Accused said he returned because his mother had died.

In passing sentence, His Lordship said it was no use the accused returning to the Colony, because the Police had determined that he was an undesirable character and that he should not live here. Sentence of three years' hard labour was passed.

Shortland Certificates.—Second Class, Li Shiu Ki; Woo Yik Chee. Third class, Chan Woon Mun, Li Sik Chin, Li Kwong E, Wong Ping Lu, Tso Cheung Kwong, Chan Tse Ming, Tsang Pong Poon, Chin Lai Yung, Fung Tin I, Lee Hung Sun, Hui Cheung Kwan, Cheung Shue Chue.

Senior Local Examination.—Lai Shu Fan; 2, Chan Yik Cho. Special Prize for Having passed right through the School being first in every class.—Lai Shu Fan.

SATURDAY'S CRICKET.

LEAGUE MATCHES.

The C.R.C. met the R.G.A. in the second of their League fixtures, on Saturday, but made a very poor show. The Chinese team had the misfortune to have one of their best men run out early in the match and, with the exception of Un Hew Fan, the remainder of the team were unable to pull things together. They were all out for 67 and the soldiers had passed the winning total after four wickets had fallen. Despite this, their final score was only carried to 105, the best score being that of Corpl. Mann, with 25. Scores:—

EARLIER TELEGRAMS.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

POSITION OF THE PRESS.

London, Jan. 18.
The Press Bureau gives a message from Paris that President Wilson, the Prime Ministers and Foreign Secretaries of the Allies have discussed the relations of the Conference and the Press and have referred the matter to a meeting of the Press and the Allied Associated Governments this afternoon for an interchange of views concerning future methods. It has been decided that the Governments mutually exchange the latest information regarding Russia with a view to a joint examination of the question.

ACUTE DIFFERENCES.

Paris, Jan. 18.
The Draconian decision of the Peace Conference regarding the issuing of no news, except communiques, will be difficult to maintain because it would deprive journalists from writing on many innocuous subjects. Apparently we have applauded the exit of secret diplomacy prematurely. Of course what is patent to everybody is that there are acute differences at the Conference, even among the five Great Powers and the latter fear, perhaps with reason, that open public discussion of these differences will not help their task. Hence it has been decided to keep the Press at arm's length and the public in ignorance.

JOURNALISTS TO CONFER.

Paris, Jan. 17.
Owing to representations and a protest by British and American Journalists the Peace Conference has refrained from officially recording the resolution limiting information supplied to the Press to communiques and binding the plenipotentiaries to secrecy. The Conference, moreover, has invited the associated journalists to formulate proposals to secure publicity for the proceedings of the Conference. A committee of associated journalists has been formed and has been given plenary powers to submit proposals to the Conference, sitting on the 17th. The British journalist delegation comprises the correspondents of Reuter's Agency the "Times" and the "Daily Chronicle."

THE LANGUAGE QUESTION.

London, Jan. 17.
The question of the language to be used at the discussions at the Peace Table is being taken up. It is understood that the position of the American and British delegations is that the discussions should be bilingual, but in the case of a test treaty a bilingual document is inadvisable on account of the difficulty of an exact literal translation. Therefore French has been chosen. M. Sazonoff, Russian ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs, has been appointed to represent the Siberian Government and has reached Paris. Two suggestions have been made. One is that the Russian delegation should be composed of a person representing certain established Government in Russia and the other suggestion is that an Inter-Allied Committee should be appointed to handle all matters relating to Russia and the interests of Western Russia.

ATTITUDE TO RUSSIA.

Paris, Jan. 17.
M. Clemenceau said that the French Government did not intend to change its policy regarding Russia and contended that the panel system of representation at the Peace Conference would satisfy everyone. There was no question which the most competent authority could not deal with thereby. For example the League of Nations was a question where representation of all interests was assured. "ABOMINABLE LIES."

Paris, Jan. 16.
In the Chamber M. Clemenceau, replying to interpellations, said the Conference was pursuing its labours in a spirit of cordiality and complete conciliation. He stated that President Wilson ejaculated "What abominable lies" on learning "New York Tribune" had published the withdrawal of all Americans and that he would leave France himself if some of his demands were not conceded. The Conference favoured publicity but deemed it desirable to keep some matters secret in order to avoid bad feeling.

SIAM'S REPRESENTATION.

Paris, Jan. 17.
The "Temps" understands that Siam, who effectively participated in the war, will be represented by two delegates instead of one. It is anticipated that certain nations allotted two delegates intend to protest at the plenary sitting on Jan. 18 against under-representation.

INDICTING THE EX-KAISER.

Paris, Jan. 17.
A number of Belgian private individuals will make formal complaints against the deposed Emperor before the Belgian Courts of Justice.—Havas.

SOUTH RUSSIAN COMMAND.

London, Jan. 18.
Reuter learns that the Hetmen of the Don and Kuban Cossacks have agreed that General Deniken assume Supreme Command of all Russian Naval and Military Forces in South Russia.

ARMISTICE PROLONGED.

Amsterdam, Jan. 19.
A message from Berlin says the prolongation of the armistice treaty was signed on the afternoon of the 16th at Treves by Herr Erzburger.

FLIGHT FROM ENGLAND TO INDIA.

London, Jan. 18.
The Press Bureau states that a Handley Page machine from England has arrived in India.

THE AIR MINISTRY.

London, Jan. 15.
The Press Bureau announces that it is authoritatively stated that the status of the Air Ministry will remain unchanged and it remains a separate and independent Ministry, its also connection with the War Office being that one State Secretary controls both departments. The relations of the Air Force with the Navy and Army will not be altered. The Air Ministry is proceeding to effect legislation and international agreements to permit of the speedy commencement of civil aviation.

ITALIAN POLITICAL CRISIS.

London, Jan. 16.
The Italian Cabinet has resigned owing to a split on the question of Italy's claims to Dalmatia and the Greek Islands under the secret treaty of 1915, which Baron Sonnino desires to be fully carried out, while the Socialists, headed by Signor Bissolati, favour a compromise with the "Yugo-Slavs," the surrender of Dodecanese and the cession of North Tyrol as far as Brenner.

EARLIER TELEGRAMS.

THE SITUATION IN GERMANY.

BERLIN REPORTED CALM.

Amsterdam, Jan. 18.
A message from Berlin dated Jan. 18 states that Government troops have thoroughly cleared out the Spartacists from the Moabit quarter. A large number of Spartacists have been imprisoned and considerable arms have been captured with slight resistance. The city was generally calm last night.

A message from Essen states that the Soviet has taken over the control of the coalmines.

PROMINENT SOCIALISTS KILLED.

Copenhagen, Jan. 17.
A telegram from the Wolff Bureau of Berlin says it is persistently reported that Herr Liebknecht, who was arrested during the night, attempted to escape while being conveyed across Tiergarten Park in Berlin. He was killed by a shot fired by a soldier. Rosa Luxemburg, while being conveyed under arrest from a hotel, was dragged from her carriage and killed by an infuriated crowd. The reports have not yet been officially confirmed.

DETAILS OF THE TRAGEDY.

Amsterdam, Jan. 17.
An official statement from Berlin confirming the deaths of Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg states that they were arrested in a Berlin suburb. After a brief examination before the local Staff Headquarters Liebknecht, just after entering an automobile en route to Moabit Prison, was violently struck by an unknown member of the assembled crowd. The car quickly drove off in order to protect Liebknecht from further molestation, but owing to its great speed the car broke down in the Tiergarten. Then, whilst proceeding to prison afoot, Liebknecht, notwithstanding previous warnings, attempted to escape after stabbing one of his escort in the hand. Liebknecht disregarded repeated calls to stop, whereupon the soldiers fired, killing him.

It was reported from The Hague on the 16th inst. that Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg had arrived at the frontier but at present were not permitted to take refuge in Holland owing to having no passports and pending a decision.

A message from Berlin of the 15th states that the Government is strongly garrisoning Berlin and installing the most modern appliances of war.

GOVERNMENT'S STRONG ACTION.

London, Jan. 17.
Apart from the deaths of Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg there are clear indications that the German Government and people are determined to end the Spartacist movement so that the National Assembly elections can be held undisturbed and peace be finally attained. The Government is now making a great display of force in Berlin where they have a large number of troops with heavy guns, field guns, armoured cars, tanks and flame throwers, also storm troops with machine guns. Commander-in-Chief Noske in a proclamation declares that the troops will protect personal freedom, property, the freedom of the press and unimpeded voting for the National Assembly and opponents will be disarmed. The strong action of the Government has had a reassuring effect on the population.

PROHIBITION IN AMERICA.

LEGISLATURES RATIFY PROPOSAL.

New York, Jan. 16.
The Legislatures of 35 States have ratified the prohibition amendment the Federal Constitution submitted under a recent act of Congress. Only one more Legislature need ratify in order to make up the necessary three-fourths in the Union. Under the amendment the prohibition begins in a year, but many think the United States will go on a permanent bone-dry basis on July 1, when the measure mentioned on Sept. 24 will be effective.

Nebraska is the Thirty-sixth State to have ratified the prohibition amendment.

NATIONAL REJOICING.

Washington, Jan. 17.
Church bells are ringing in some States in celebration of the national prohibition, which will be an accomplished fact a year hence, the necessary three-fourths of the States having ratified the amendment of the Constitution to that effect. Actually, prohibition becomes effective on July 1st, as a war measure till the President declares the Army is demobilized. Generally the opinion is expressed that the President will not declare this until the Constitutional Amendment becomes effective.

The amendment makes the manufacture, sale, exportation and importation of alcohol beverages illegal throughout the United States. Measures are already being taken fixing the penalties for infraction. The Leaders of Congress do not fear that the efforts of the liquor interests to have the decision of the State Legislatures declared illegal will be successful. The Federal and State Governments will lose enormous revenues by this epoch making step.

THE EXCESS PROFITS DUTY.

London, Jan. 17.
The Ministry of Reconstruction publishes the report of the Committee on Financial Risks, which was appointed owing to the manufacturers and traders fearing that losses due to a fall in prices of the raw material bought at war time prices might hinder full scale production. The Committee recommends, alternatively, a reduction of the Excess Profits duty to 55 per cent. for 1918, or deferring the payment of a part of that duty for five years.

ESTHONIAN CAMPAIGN.

Stockholm, Jan. 18.
An Estonian communique states: We occupied the town of Dorpat which the enemy evacuated.

GERMANS UNDER ARMS.

London, Jan. 18.
Reuter learns that it is believed that there are still over half a million Germans under arms on the West Front. There has been no improvement in the handing over of military material. We cannot yet remove troops from Trans-Caspia in view of the necessity of preventing the Bolsheviks from penetrating North Persia and Khorassan. It is confirmed that the Siberians have captured 20,000 Bolsheviks, a thousand machine-guns and much material at Perm. The Siberians have reached the River Kama but the Bolsheviks are advancing further south. Five Bolshevik armies, with German officers, are operating on this front.

FREE LOVE IN RUSSIA.

London, Jan. 17.
Major General Poole, the Allied commander on the North Russia front, in a message dated the 8th states that evidence shows that a Bolshevik decree for the nationalisation of women has been put into force and communities of free love established. In several towns respectable women have been flogged for not yielding.

EARLIER TELEGRAMS.

DEFENCE OF LITHUANIA.

London, Jan. 18.
Reuter learns that at the request of the President of Lithuania the Polish Government has agreed to defend the Lithuanians against the Bolsheviks and has appointed a High Commissioner, who will immediately take over the administration of Lithuania.

THE LUXEMBURG THRONE.

Paris, Jan. 17.
The Luxemburg Government has informed the French Government that Princess Charlotte has ascended the throne in succession to her sister Adelaide who abdicated recently, the Chamber approving of the accession by 30 votes to 12.

NEW AERIAL SERVICE.

Paris, Jan. 17.
The Brothers Farman announce that the official trials of the first aeroplane to be used in the service between Paris and London will take place near Versailles on Saturday next. The first machine for London leaves on January 23.

PASSENGER STEAMER MINED.

Rome, Jan. 17.
The French steamer Chaprol, carrying 650 Greek, Serbian and Russian passengers from Marseilles, was mined off Messina and sank in four minutes. It is feared that five hundred were drowned. The British steamer Cogheston rescued 150.

RELEASE OF U. S. SHIPS.

New York, Jan. 16.
The Shipping Board announces that all American ships requisitioned for the war will be released or tonnage compensation given.

FAMINE RELIEF.

Washington, Jan. 18.
The Senate Appropriations Committee has favourably reported on the appropriation of a hundred million dollars for famine relief in Europe.

ART DEALER'S DEATH.

New York, Jan. 16.
The death is announced of the art dealer, Henry Duveen.

RESTRICTIONS ON FOREIGN GOODS.

London, Jan. 18.
An influential deputation of the National Union of Manufacturers has urged Sir A. Stanley to immediately reimpose and strictly enforce the restrictions on the importation of foreign goods which have been lifted for three months. It is understood that Sir A. Stanley undertook to comply with the request at the termination of the aforementioned three months and may even extend the list to which the restrictions applied.

COTTON CONTROL.

London, Jan. 18.
The Cotton Control Board has announced that an increase in the number of spindles and looms running can be permitted for the present, but the Board is endeavouring to secure the speedy release from the Army of men whose services will be necessary when the running of additional machinery is possible.

MINERS WAGE DEMANDS.

London, Jan. 18.
The British Miners' Federation Conference has decided by 500,000 against 23,000 votes to demand a thirty per cent advance in wages and that war advances be continued. The minority thought the demands did not go far enough.

COST OF FOOD RELIEF.

Paris, Jan. 16.
The Supreme Food Council has concluded that eighty millions sterling will be required to feed the peoples in the liberated regions and Armenia until next Summer and has decided to ask the Associated Governments how this sum can be provided.

THE INDEMNITY QUESTION.

London, Jan. 17.
It is reported from Paris on the 16th. that Britain has requested Mr. Hughes to take charge of the indemnity question for the British Empire.

SINN FEIN ACTIVITY.

Dublin, Jan. 17.
Sinn Fein, apparently determined upon forcing the pace, has assumed the title of Irish Republican Party and has announced the Constituent Assembly as opening at the Mansion House on the 21st.

AN OPERATIC SUCCESS.

Paris, Jan. 17.
Penelope, the masterpiece of French modern music by Faure, met with a great success at the Opera Comique. Havas.

SPITZBERGEN COAL AND IRON.

The Norwegian mining journal Bergverksnyt, in dealing with the British Spitzbergen Expedition, under the leadership of Mr. F. W. Salisbury Jones, says:—The British Flag has been hoisted at Ebelstaf Harbour, Spitzbergen. The German properties there and the German wireless station have been destroyed. The enormous coal and iron deposits at Spitzbergen belonging to the Northern Exploration Company, Ltd., have been examined by a number of English and Norwegian experts, who all declare that the iron ore deposits, without comparison, are the largest and richest in Europe. Whole mountains of solid iron, extending over 17 English miles, have been staked out, and these are situated near splendid harbours which are capable of accommodating ships of any size. The Ray "Lowe Sound" is described as large enough to accommodate the whole fleet of the world. The coal deposits exposed to the day can be traced alongside the mountain sides for a distance exceeding 30 English miles on both sides of the Lowe Sound, which has a width of 5 1/2 miles. The company has already commenced working its first mine in Lowe Sound, close to Davis City; barracks have been erected there, and the camp is under the leadership of Captain F. Wild, well known in connection with the Scott and Shackleton expeditions. The mining industry is under the leadership of Engineer B. Maughan, and Dr. McIlroy is in charge of sanitary matters of the camp. Work will proceed throughout the year. There have been more than 400 miners and workers at Spitzbergen during the winter of 1918, and about 800 more are coming. The sanitary conditions in all the camps have been splendid. There has practically occurred no kind of sickness. The expedition also visited the Company's other iron and coal deposits in King's Bay, Recherche Bay, Van Kuleus Bay, and on both sides of Bell Sound, also properties belonging to Norwegian and Swedish companies. These latter are already doing splendid business, and their plant is being extended with feverish haste. Shipping to the extent of more than 150,000 tons has been engaged during 1918 in bringing coal to Norway and Russia. The production of coal during the present year exceeds 80,000 tons, and will during 1919 exceed 100,000 tons.

FUTURE OF THE PACIFIC.

Masajiro Fujise, of Tokyo, managing director of the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, in a speech at a luncheon at which he was the guest of San Francisco's leading business men and financiers, said: "American natural resources and zeal have been a staunch bulwark of democracy in the world struggle. Japan anticipates developing mutual understanding and cordial relations with the United States through the medium of trans-Pacific trade. The Pacific along the whole coasts of two-thirds of the world's population is teeming as the future arena of world trade. I have been impressed by the high qualities of kindness and frankness shown my party by the American public and I shall carry back with me the greatest regard for your great commonwealth."

£10,000 PEACE OFFERING.

Alderman William Beavis, of Southampton, has presented the town with £10,000 as a thank offering for the end of the war. The interest will be spent on a yearly treat to the children of the elementary schools.

GAOL LETTER SNUGGLING.

Dr. Cusack, one of the Sinn Fein prisoners, while at Birmingham was allowed out of gaol to visit his dentist, and he seized the opportunity to call at a restaurant, where he made the acquaintance of a waitress named May Williams. Later the waitress obtained a passport to go to Ireland, but when about to sail her luggage was searched, and was found to contain 19 letters, some stamped and addressed to persons in Ireland. She was arrested on the ground that she was an agent for the smuggling of letters and documents out of the Birmingham prison. The girl was bound over in £20 at Bow-street the magistrate remarking that she was no doubt a youthful enthusiast, who had allowed her enthusiasm to get the better of her discretion.

COMMERCIAL NEWS.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY IN CHINA.

A Mukden dispatch to the "Asahi" says that the Standard Oil Company of New York proposes to establish a general Far Eastern agency at Mukden with a view to extending its operations in Manchuria, Mongolia, and Siberia. The dispatch adds that managers of the company's offices in Changchun, Antung, Yinkow, Harbin, and other places have already come to Mukden to hold a conference concerning the proposed extension of the company's operations.

IRON AND STEEL EXCHANGE FOR LONDON.

The organization of British industries goes on apace. The latest, and by no means the least, to be announced is the formation of the London Iron and Steel Exchange, Ltd. This Exchange has been formed, it is stated, by a group of some forty of the leading British firms engaged in the iron, steel, and metal industries. It comes into being at an auspicious moment, when the whole tide of industrial activity is being turned from purposes of war to purposes of peace. The secretary's office is at 113, Queen Victoria-street, E.C. and for the purposes of its business the London Iron and Steel Exchange, Ltd., has secured the great Pillar Hall of Cannon-street Hotel. On this the directors of the Exchange are to be congratulated, since there is no better or more convenient hall for the purposes of such an Exchange in the whole of the city of London.

RIFLE LEAGUE.

DEFENCE CORPS & NAVY.

This match was shot off at Stone-cutters on Saturday and resulted in a win for the Defence Corps by 13 points. The sun behind the targets spoiled all chance of big scores at the longer ranges. The Navy unfortunately had three
"washouts," but the Defence Corps managed to keep on the target each time, although a number of "outers" were registered.
There was practically no definition of the "figure" or bull's eye at the longer ranges. Details:-
